

PARIS AT SOUTHAMPTON.

SHE LINGS INTO PORT WITH HER STEWARD'S SHIP BROKEN.

The Accident Occurred When One Day Out of New York-Capt. Watkins Declared to Proceed with Her on Her Voyage—The Steamer Marched in Her Own Defense—The Steamer Marched in Her Own Defense.

Special Cable Despatch to The Sun.
Southampton, March 12.—The American line steamer Paris, from New York, arrived here at 12:05 A. M.

The Paris passed the Scilly Islands at 8:50 o'clock yesterday morning.

Later in the day she was reported as steaming slowly along the coast, apparently using a single engine.

The Paris, in passing Fawley Point, signalled that all were well on board.

A Sun reporter boarded the Paris on her arrival here and obtained the following extracts from her log:

"Sailed from New York at 10 A. M. on March 8. Collided at 10:45 A. M. off Swinburn Island with the steamer Trinidad. Left the Sandy Hook Lightship at noon, with a smooth sea. A hot bearing reported on the starboard engine, and half speed maintained on it. Port engine running from 60 to 68 revolutions. Fair weather; cold, with smooth sea.

"Like conditions lasted until 11:45 A. M. Thursday, March 12. At 12:05 P. M. the engine broke in the outer casing about fifty feet from the propeller. The engine was instantly under control, not racing apparently for a single revolution.

"Capt. Watkins ordered a boat lowered with the chief engineer and second officer, and the engine was stopped. A thorough examination was made. The result being reported to the Captain, he decided to proceed, the injury to the shaft being such that it could be effectually secured. This was done with a length of chain cable, and at 10:45 P. M. the Paris proceeded under her own power.

"From Sandy Hook to the entrance of the Channel nothing but uninterrupted fair weather was encountered, with smooth seas, warm southerly breezes, and brilliant sunshine, altogether the finest that in his long transatlantic experience Capt. Watkins had ever known.

The runs were: Thursday, 370 knots, and thereafter daily as follows: 251, 280, 254, 300, 313, 283, 300, and 283 to noon Saturday, leaving 143 miles to the Needles, which point was reached at midnight. The steamer docked here at 2:30 A. M.

The best previous record of the Paris under like conditions was 310 miles in twenty-four hours, when, on this occasion, she crossed, with one screw in a sling. It will be observed that on this voyage she beat it on two successive days.

On the next ensuing day, with precisely the same weather, from longitude 27° 2' to longitude 20° 3', and from latitude 49° 1' to latitude 48° 19', the distance made was 283 knots, a drop of twenty-eight. The revolutions of the screw indicated 311 knots as the distance traversed, and there was a decrease of coal consumption of ten tons.

This circumstance will be of interest to transatlantic navigators in view of the recent discussion, especially by some German Captains, of the existence in the localities specified and eastward and westward of it of a strong westerly current coming either from the southern coast of Ireland or originating in the Bay of Biscay and crossing northward beneath the Gulf Stream.

From Friday, March 3, to the end of the voyage the passengers enjoyed fine June weather, with overcasts and rays discarded wholly, and without a wet deck or a rack on the table.

LORD ROSSELIN'S DINNER.

He Was Merely Regarded as Host, the Hotel Paying All Expenses.

Special Cable Despatch to The Sun.
London, March 12.—The young Earl of Roselley, in his appearance in two courts, the Rumpsey Court and the Court Theatre, gambling and other extravagances landed him in the former, and he has gone into the latter to earn a living. His debts amount to $850,000. He has gained much credit, not to mention advertisement, as a noble master of the game, and as a gambler, but when a newspaper described Lord Roselley's big dinner on Sunday at a fashionable hotel, celebrating his fiftieth anniversary on the stage, as the chief social event of the week, the Chronicle gave vent to its outraged feelings by the following article:

"In order to justify himself, Lord Roselley was obliged to betray the fact that the dinner was a combined advertisement of himself and the hotel. The latter, using a common dodge of London hotels and restaurants desirous of obtaining a fashionable clientele, engaged him and Lady Roselley to act as host and hostess at the banquet, which was provided entirely at the hotel's expense. Thus the smart lords and ladies were merely the hotel proprietor's guests, and may be described as an aristocratic party of sandwiches.

ONE OF MR. MOORE'S 100,000.

A Texas Man Offers $1,000 to President McKinley Without Conditions.

MCKINNEY, Tex., March 12.—An excellent illustration of the feeling that is prevalent in this region is furnished by an offer made to President McKinley yesterday by Francis Emerson, President of the First National Bank of this place, who forwarded to Washington a tender of $1,000 for use at the President's own discretion in behalf of the cause of the South.

This money, the tender proposes, is to be a loan on the same terms as those offered by Francis C. Moore, of New York, and is to be repaid, to be paid at the Government's convenience, or not at all.

Francis Emerson is a fisherman, a citizen, 83 years old.

SUICIDE FROM A FERRYBOAT.

An Unhappy Man Who Chased His Mind When It Was Too Late.

A man on the rear of the Hamilton avenue ferryboat, Pierpont, who had been drinking, and who was reported to have been drinking, was seen last night, at 10:40 o'clock, and strange occurred.

Capt. George Taylor of the lighter Villard, lying in the next slip, heard a splash and a cry of "Save me!" and rushed to the water, but before he could do anything the man had disappeared. There was no clue to his identity in the clothing left on the ferryboat.

MINUTE CUMMINGS SEND THE HEED TO BELLVIEW.

Innocent G. Reed, once a newspaper writer, was sent to Bellevue and confined in the insane ward yesterday afternoon at the request of Mrs. Minnie L. Cummings of 127 Fifth avenue, at whose home he has been living.

He was taken in an ambulance from a tenement house at 22 West 12th street, where Mrs. Cummings told the hospital authorities that he had been ill mentally for some time, and that on Friday night he became so violent that she found it necessary to remove him from her house to the asylum and his attendant in the Twenty-second street tenement.

Selling a Naval Coal Supply in the West.

St. Louis, March 12.—Negotiations are in progress here between the Government and a general local coal firm for fuel for the navy. The bids solicited contain requirements for the shipment of 100,000 tons of coal to Mobile, Ala., in the next six days.

The principal bidders are reported to be the Black Sea and the Pacific Coast Coal Company, the Consolidated, Don Brothers, and the Madison Coal Company. The bids for these bids reached here on Thursday.

Weakened Heroes Held the Democrats.

RICHMOND, Va., March 12.—The City Democratic Committee of this city, which has been in session recently providing that none but those who were willing to endorse the Chicago platform should vote, has this morning elected a new committee, and on Monday, at 10 o'clock, the committee receded its action.

A New Brother for St. Michael's Church.

The Rev. Alexander Vance, the Rev. Dr. McConnell's assistant in the Episcopal church, has accepted the call to the vacant pulpit of St. Michael's Church in High street and will take charge at once.

Latest Marine Intelligence.

The Hamburg-Marine line steamer Friedrich der Grosse, from New York for Hamburg, passed the Lizard at 2:10 o'clock this morning.

SONS OF BROWN DINE.

Annual Banquet of the Graduates of the Rhode Island University.

Seventy-five graduates of Brown University gathered at Belmont's last night for their annual dinner. Charles E. Hughes, President of the Brown University Club of this city, acted as Chairman, and introduced as the first speaker President E. B. Andrews, who told of the progress of the university.

"There has been a strange effort," said he, "to broaden the scope of the institution at the expense of its central force. What we have done in the way of extension has been gradual and in full accord with our powers. We have not recklessly attempted more than we could perform and so weakened ourselves. To-day the university is stronger than ever before."

The next speaker was the Rev. W. H. P. Faunce of the Fifth Avenue Baptist Church. He said:

"The ideal of the German university is tradition—to turn out a graduate who shall be omniscient and almost omniscient. That of the English is culture. It turns out men fully fashioned to man the State. Our American university ideal is still hovering between the old notion of paternal care, teaching a lesson to be learned by rote, and the new idea of the broadening of the mind. New England is still the guiding spirit of the country, and the power behind events is in the New England. The American university is to be greater than any one man in it. It will stand for quality of spirit rather than quantity of information. There are two things of which we must be aware to-day—the commercial spirit intruding into the college and the wide scientific course. The college must hold firm to its classical ideal."

The ideal of the German university is tradition—to turn out a graduate who shall be omniscient and almost omniscient. That of the English is culture. It turns out men fully fashioned to man the State. Our American university ideal is still hovering between the old notion of paternal care, teaching a lesson to be learned by rote, and the new idea of the broadening of the mind. New England is still the guiding spirit of the country, and the power behind events is in the New England. The American university is to be greater than any one man in it. It will stand for quality of spirit rather than quantity of information. There are two things of which we must be aware to-day—the commercial spirit intruding into the college and the wide scientific course. The college must hold firm to its classical ideal."

FOUGHT FOR THE GIRL.

Well-Known Young Men of Louisville Due Fists in a Love Rivalry.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 12.—A fist fight was fought in the Highlands early this morning by James Metcalfe, son of General Manager Metcalfe of the Louisville and Nashville Railway Company, and Charles Henry Woods, well known in the younger society set. They loved the same girl, who refused to decide in either's favor.

They met one day last week, and in the encounter which followed both received a black eye. They met last night and agreed to fight a dish according to London prize ring rules, the winner to take the girl.

Will Hinner was chosen referee. Metcalfe was seconded by a boxer, and Woods by a pugilist. The fight was lively. The first three rounds of the fight were lively. The referee received a black eye. The fight was lively. The first three rounds of the fight were lively. The referee received a black eye.

They came up for the fourth round with Metcalfe on his feet and his adversary on his back. Then a keen idea took possession of Metcalfe. He decided to win by a knockout. He did not. He was knocked out by Woods. Woods was declared the winner. Metcalfe's engagement to the girl is expected to be annulled.

JUSTICE IN RICHMOND COUNTY.

His Administration in the Case of William A. Cleveland Assailed.

WILLIAM A. Cleveland was indicted in Richmond county in November last for grand larceny in the first degree, although the alleged offense, the obtaining of $25 by false representation, was committed in 1893, and therefore came under the statute of limitations. When arraigned he pleaded guilty to a charge of petit larceny, with the understanding, as he now says, with the prosecuting authorities, that he was not to be punished.

County Judge Stephens at first suspended the case for two months, but Cleveland was again summoned before him and sent to the Kings County Penitentiary for a year. Cleveland brought a writ of habeas corpus, and the case was set for trial in the Supreme Court on a writ of habeas corpus, sued out by former Assistant District Attorney Stephens, who was discharged of his client, after reciting the alleged illegal steps in his prosecution. The motion was granted, and Cleveland was set free to do with the prosecution of Cleveland, and he is going to bring suit against two or three persons, he says, for false imprisonment.

WANTS PROOF OF PENSION FRAUDS.

A West Virginia Grand Army Post Offers a Reward for Evidence.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 12.—Andrew Mather Post, G. A. R., of Parkersburg, has adopted the following resolutions:

"Whereas, in view of the universal discussion, comment, and criticism of pensions and pensioners all over this great country and the insinuations that are constantly being made that all pensioners are frauds, and to prove beyond a doubt, that such accusations are malicious and false; be it

"Resolved, by Andrew Mather Post, No. 14, G. A. R., of Parkersburg, West Virginia, that we will pay $100 for proof, sufficient to convince the United States Senate, of the late war pension frauds, and to be paid to the State of West Virginia, and be it further

"Resolved, that any person who has knowledge of the pension frauds in the State of West Virginia, and who is willing to furnish evidence to the United States Senate, shall be paid the sum of $100, and be it further

"Resolved, that any person who has knowledge of the pension frauds in the State of West Virginia, and who is willing to furnish evidence to the United States Senate, shall be paid the sum of $100, and be it further

"Resolved, that any person who has knowledge of the pension frauds in the State of West Virginia, and who is willing to furnish evidence to the United States Senate, shall be paid the sum of $100, and be it further

"Resolved, that any person who has knowledge of the pension frauds in the State of West Virginia, and who is willing to furnish evidence to the United States Senate, shall be paid the sum of $100, and be it further

"Resolved, that any person who has knowledge of the pension frauds in the State of West Virginia, and who is willing to furnish evidence to the United States Senate, shall be paid the sum of $100, and be it further

"Resolved, that any person who has knowledge of the pension frauds in the State of West Virginia, and who is willing to furnish evidence to the United States Senate, shall be paid the sum of $100, and be it further

"Resolved, that any person who has knowledge of the pension frauds in the State of West Virginia, and who is willing to furnish evidence to the United States Senate, shall be paid the sum of $100, and be it further

"Resolved, that any person who has knowledge of the pension frauds in the State of West Virginia, and who is willing to furnish evidence to the United States Senate, shall be paid the sum of $100, and be it further

"Resolved, that any person who has knowledge of the pension frauds in the State of West Virginia, and who is willing to furnish evidence to the United States Senate, shall be paid the sum of $100, and be it further

"Resolved, that any person who has knowledge of the pension frauds in the State of West Virginia, and who is willing to furnish evidence to the United States Senate, shall be paid the sum of $100, and be it further

"Resolved, that any person who has knowledge of the pension frauds in the State of West Virginia, and who is willing to furnish evidence to the United States Senate, shall be paid the sum of $100, and be it further

"Resolved, that any person who has knowledge of the pension frauds in the State of West Virginia, and who is willing to furnish evidence to the United States Senate, shall be paid the sum of $100, and be it further

"Resolved, that any person who has knowledge of the pension frauds in the State of West Virginia, and who is willing to furnish evidence to the United States Senate, shall be paid the sum of $100, and be it further

"Resolved, that any person who has knowledge of the pension frauds in the State of West Virginia, and who is willing to furnish evidence to the United States Senate, shall be paid the sum of $100, and be it further

"Resolved, that any person who has knowledge of the pension frauds in the State of West Virginia, and who is willing to furnish evidence to the United States Senate, shall be paid the sum of $100, and be it further

"Resolved, that any person who has knowledge of the pension frauds in the State of West Virginia, and who is willing to furnish evidence to the United States Senate, shall be paid the sum of $100, and be it further

"Resolved, that any person who has knowledge of the pension frauds in the State of West Virginia, and who is willing to furnish evidence to the United States Senate, shall be paid the sum of $100, and be it further

"Resolved, that any person who has knowledge of the pension frauds in the State of West Virginia, and who is willing to furnish evidence to the United States Senate, shall be paid the sum of $100, and be it further

"Resolved, that any person who has knowledge of the pension frauds in the State of West Virginia, and who is willing to furnish evidence to the United States Senate, shall be paid the sum of $100, and be it further

FIRE BURNED TO DEATH.

FATAL FIRE THIS MORNING IN A HOWERY LUDING HOUSE.

Four Bodies Found on the Fourth Floor, One on the Top Floor, As Badly Injured by the Flames That They Could Not Be Identified—Mistaken Name as the Avenue Place.

Two hundred men who were sleeping in the fireproof brick building at 105 Bowery were driven out by a fire which was discovered at 1:30 o'clock this morning.

Five men were burned to death in the fire. Four bodies were found in the fourth story and one on the top floor.

The ground floor of the building is occupied by the Howery Mission, where nightly prayer meetings are held. The other four floors are used as lodgings, which are rented at 10, 15, and 25 cents a night.

The fire was seen burning fiercely through the roof of the building by passers-by on the street before the flames were seen. It turned out to be the Howery Mission, where nightly prayer meetings are held. The other four floors are used as lodgings, which are rented at 10, 15, and 25 cents a night.

By the time an engine and truck had reached the spot all of the lodgers had been awakened by the watchmen, who ran through the building shouting an alarm.

When the firemen arrived they found the fire escaping on the roof of the building. They were frightened men, many of whom were entirely naked, who had rushed out in such numbers that the landings and ladders were congested.

The frightened men stood helpless, and the flames roared about them from the windows of the top floor as the fire spread upward.

Capt. Andrew H. Sweet of Truck 9 and Battalion Chief Croker mounted to the fire escape on a twenty-foot ladder and began to rescue the men.

The firemen saw one naked man who had balanced himself on the roof of the building. Several of them ran up the ladder and grasped him just in time to keep him from jumping. He was taken to the ground unhurt.

A great crowd had collected about the building by this time, and as the firemen handed the inmates of the building to safety it cheered them again and again.

Chief Croker and Capt. Sweet took enough men from the second and third floor escapes to allow the others to descend, and then pushed up to the top story, where there were a number of lodgers, unable to move down. All of these were saved and handed down to the ground.

While the firemen had been helping some of the 200 men to safety, others had made their way to the ground by the stairways and had rushed out.

Of these many were naked. They ran into nearby stores and clothing was found for them. Several men jumped from windows on the second floor.

The blaze was got under control by 2:20 o'clock, after the fire had burned out the top floor of the building.

GEORGIA'S COLONIES.

The Evil Considered by a Citizen of the State Who Is Also a Major.

From the Atlanta Journal.
Major Joseph H. Cumming of Augusta, one of the best informed and most polished orators, at the recent banquet of the Sons of the Revolution in Savannah, responded to the toast "Georgia." In his remarks he said:

"I take as my text for a short discourse the Georgia Colony. I do not claim that in doing this I am assailing the greatest evil that raises its head in Georgia, but I say that it is the one which afflicts a proud and sensitive Georgian most. We can stand abuse, we can endure poverty, we can survive oppression, we can tolerate wickedness of various grades and species, but to be laughed at, to be the object of ridicule, to be the subject of perennial derision, to have a perpetual insult, to be treated as an expense, roaring in our ears, is the one of the removal of which is well worth the effort of the Sons of the Revolution or anybody else."

That is the first division of my discourse. What is the remedy for this evil? I am unable to find a satisfactory answer to my first question. I am sorry to say, it is to be found in the history of the Georgia Colony. I rack my brain in vain for an explanation of the mad passion of our people to call and be called "Colonies." It is a form of insanity, sinking to the grade of imbecility and idocy which baffles explanation. If the fact did not surely live before me, I would not believe that some thousands of the white male citizens of Georgia, who are nothing of the kind, would ever entertain the idea of being called "Colonies." It is a form of insanity, sinking to the grade of imbecility and idocy which baffles explanation. If the fact did not surely live before me, I would not believe that some thousands of the white male citizens of Georgia, who are nothing of the kind, would ever entertain the idea of being called "Colonies." It is a form of insanity, sinking to the grade of imbecility and idocy which baffles explanation. If the fact did not surely live before me, I would not believe that some thousands of the white male citizens of Georgia, who are nothing of the kind, would ever entertain the idea of being called "Colonies." It is a form of insanity, sinking to the grade of imbecility and idocy which baffles explanation. If the fact did not surely live before me, I would not believe that some thousands of the white male citizens of Georgia, who are nothing of the kind, would ever entertain the idea of being called "Colonies." It is a form of insanity, sinking to the grade of imbecility and idocy which baffles explanation. If the fact did not surely live before me, I would not believe that some thousands of the white male citizens of Georgia, who are nothing of the kind, would ever entertain the idea of being called "Colonies." It is a form of insanity, sinking to the grade of imbecility and idocy which baffles explanation. If the fact did not surely live before me, I would not believe that some thousands of the white male citizens of Georgia, who are nothing of the kind, would ever entertain the idea of being called "Colonies." It is a form of insanity, sinking to the grade of imbecility and idocy which baffles explanation. If the fact did not surely live before me, I would not believe that some thousands of the white male citizens of Georgia, who are nothing of the kind, would ever entertain the idea of being called "Colonies." It is a form of insanity, sinking to the grade of imbecility and idocy which baffles explanation. If the fact did not surely live before me, I would not believe that some thousands of the white male citizens of Georgia, who are nothing of the kind, would ever entertain the idea of being called "Colonies." It is a form of insanity, sinking to the grade of imbecility and idocy which baffles explanation. If the fact did not surely live before me, I would not believe that some thousands of the white male citizens of Georgia, who are nothing of the kind, would ever entertain the idea of being called "Colonies." It is a form of insanity, sinking to the grade of imbecility and idocy which baffles explanation. If the fact did not surely live before me, I would not believe that some thousands of the white male citizens of Georgia, who are nothing of the kind, would ever entertain the idea of being called "Colonies." It is a form of insanity, sinking to the grade of imbecility and idocy which baffles explanation. If the fact did not surely live before me, I would not believe that some thousands of the white male citizens of Georgia, who are nothing of the kind, would ever entertain the idea of being called "Colonies." It is a form of insanity, sinking to the grade of imbecility and idocy which baffles explanation. If the fact did not surely live before me, I would not believe that some thousands of the white male citizens of Georgia, who are nothing of the kind, would ever entertain the idea of being called "Colonies." It is a form of insanity, sinking to the grade of imbecility and idocy which baffles explanation. If the fact did not surely live before me, I would not believe that some thousands of the white male citizens of Georgia, who are nothing of the kind, would ever entertain the idea of being called "Colonies." It is a form of insanity, sinking to the grade of imbecility and idocy which baffles explanation. If the fact did not surely live before me, I would not believe that some thousands of the white male citizens of Georgia, who are nothing of the kind, would ever entertain the idea of being called "Colonies." It is a form of insanity, sinking to the grade of imbecility and idocy which baffles explanation. If the fact did not surely live before me, I would not believe that some thousands of the white male citizens of Georgia, who are nothing of the kind, would ever entertain the idea of being called "Colonies." It is a form of insanity, sinking to the grade of imbecility and idocy which baffles explanation. If the fact did not surely live before me, I would not believe that some thousands of the white male citizens of Georgia, who are nothing of the kind, would ever entertain the idea of being called "Colonies." It is a form of insanity, sinking to the grade of imbecility and idocy which baffles explanation. If the fact did not surely live before me, I would not believe that some thousands of the white male citizens of Georgia, who are nothing of the kind, would ever entertain the idea of being called "Colonies." It is a form of insanity, sinking to the grade of imbecility and idocy which baffles explanation. If the fact did not surely live before me, I would not believe that some thousands of the white male citizens of Georgia, who are nothing of the kind, would ever entertain the idea of being called "Colonies." It is a form of insanity, sinking to the grade of imbecility and idocy which baffles explanation. If the fact did not surely live before me, I would not believe that some thousands of the white male citizens of Georgia, who are nothing of the kind, would ever entertain the idea of being called "Colonies." It is a form of insanity, sinking to the grade of imbecility and idocy which baffles explanation. If the fact did not surely live before me, I would not believe that some thousands of the white male citizens of Georgia, who are nothing of the kind, would ever entertain the idea of being called "Colonies." It is a form of insanity, sinking to the grade of imbecility and idocy which baffles explanation. If the fact did not surely live before me, I would not believe that some thousands of the white male citizens of Georgia, who are nothing of the kind, would ever entertain the idea of being called "Colonies." It is a form of insanity, sinking to the grade of imbecility and idocy which baffles explanation. If the fact did not surely live before me, I would not believe that some thousands of the white male citizens of Georgia, who are nothing of the kind, would ever entertain the idea of being called "Colonies." It is a form of insanity, sinking to the grade of imbecility and idocy which baffles explanation. If the fact did not surely live before me, I would not believe that some thousands of the white male citizens of Georgia, who are nothing of the kind, would ever entertain the idea of being called "Colonies." It is a form of insanity, sinking to the grade of imbecility and idocy which baffles explanation. If the fact did not surely live before me, I would not believe that some thousands of the white male citizens of Georgia, who are nothing of the kind, would ever entertain the idea of being called "Colonies." It is a form of insanity, sinking to the grade of imbecility and idocy which baffles explanation. If the fact did not surely live before me, I would not believe that some thousands of the white male citizens of Georgia, who are nothing of the kind, would ever entertain the idea of being called "Colonies." It is a form of insanity, sinking to the grade of imbecility and idocy which baffles explanation. If the fact did not surely live before me, I would not believe that some thousands of the white male citizens of Georgia, who are nothing of the kind, would ever entertain the idea of being called "Colonies." It is a form of insanity, sinking to the grade of imbecility and idocy which baffles explanation. If the fact did not surely live before me, I would not believe that some thousands of the white male citizens of Georgia, who are nothing of the kind, would ever entertain the idea of being called "Colonies." It is a form of insanity, sinking to the grade of imbecility and idocy which baffles explanation. If the fact did not surely live before me, I would not believe that some thousands of the white male citizens of Georgia, who are nothing of the kind, would ever entertain the idea of being called "Colonies." It is a form of insanity, sinking to the grade of imbecility and idocy which baffles explanation. If the fact did not surely live before me, I would not believe that some thousands of the white male citizens of Georgia, who are nothing of the kind, would ever entertain the idea of being called "Colonies." It is a form of insanity, sinking to the grade of imbecility and idocy which baffles explanation. If the fact did not surely live before me, I would not believe that some thousands of the white male citizens of Georgia, who are nothing of the kind, would ever entertain the idea of being called "Colonies." It is a form of insanity, sinking to the grade of imbecility and idocy which baffles explanation. If the fact did not surely live before me, I would not believe that some thousands of the white male citizens of Georgia, who are nothing of the kind, would ever entertain the idea of being called "Colonies." It is a form of insanity, sinking to the grade of imbecility and idocy which baffles explanation. If the fact did not surely live before me, I would not believe that some thousands of the white male citizens of Georgia, who are nothing of the kind, would ever entertain the idea of being called "Colonies." It is a form of insanity, sinking to the grade of imbecility and idocy which baffles explanation. If the fact did not surely live before me, I would not believe that some thousands of the white male citizens of Georgia, who are nothing of the kind, would ever entertain the idea of being called "Colonies." It is a form of insanity, sinking to the grade of imbecility and idocy which baffles explanation. If the fact did not surely live before me, I would not believe that some thousands of the white male citizens of Georgia, who are nothing of the kind, would ever entertain the idea of being called "Colonies." It is a form of insanity, sinking to the grade of imbecility and idocy which baffles explanation. If the fact did not surely live before me, I would not believe that some thousands of the white male citizens of Georgia, who are nothing of the kind, would ever entertain the idea of being called "Colonies." It is a form of insanity, sinking to the grade of imbecility and idocy which baffles explanation. If the fact did not surely live before me, I would not believe that some thousands of the white male citizens of Georgia, who are nothing of the kind, would ever entertain the idea of being called "Colonies." It is a form of insanity, sinking to the grade of imbecility and idocy which baffles explanation. If the fact did not surely live before me, I would not believe that some thousands of the white male citizens of Georgia, who are nothing of the kind, would ever entertain the idea of being called "Colonies." It is a form of insanity, sinking to the grade of imbecility and idocy which baffles explanation. If the fact did not surely live before me, I would not believe that some thousands of the white male citizens of Georgia, who are nothing of the kind, would ever entertain the idea of being called "Colonies." It is a form of insanity, sinking to the grade of imbecility and idocy which baffles explanation. If the fact did not surely live before me, I would not believe that some thousands of the white male citizens of Georgia, who are nothing of the kind, would ever entertain the idea of being called "Colonies." It is a form of insanity, sinking to the grade of imbecility and idocy which baffles explanation. If the fact did not surely live before me, I would not believe that some thousands of the white male citizens of Georgia, who are nothing of the kind, would ever entertain the idea of being called "Colonies." It is a form of insanity, sinking to the grade of imbecility and idocy which baffles explanation. If the fact did not surely live before me, I would not believe that some thousands of the white male citizens of Georgia, who are nothing of the kind, would ever entertain the idea of being called "Colonies." It is a form of insanity, sinking to the grade of imbecility and idocy which baffles explanation. If the fact did not surely live before me, I would not believe that some thousands of the white male citizens of Georgia, who are nothing of the kind, would ever entertain the idea of being called "Colonies." It is a form of insanity, sinking to the grade of imbecility and idocy which baffles explanation. If the fact did not surely live before me, I would not believe that some thousands of the white male citizens of Georgia, who are nothing of the kind, would ever entertain the idea of being called "Colonies." It is a form of insanity, sinking to the grade of imbecility and idocy which baffles explanation. If the fact did not surely live before me, I would not believe that some thousands of the white male citizens of Georgia, who are nothing of the kind, would ever entertain the idea of being called "Colonies." It is a form of insanity, sinking to the grade of imbecility and idocy which baffles explanation. If the fact did not surely live before me, I would not believe that some thousands of the white male citizens of Georgia, who are nothing of the kind, would ever entertain the idea of being called "Colonies." It is a form of insanity, sinking to the grade of imbecility and idocy which baffles explanation. If the fact did not surely live before me, I would not believe that some thousands of the white male citizens of Georgia, who are nothing of the kind, would ever entertain the idea of being called "Colonies." It is a form of insanity, sinking to the grade of imbecility and idocy which baffles explanation. If the fact did not surely live before me, I would not believe that some thousands of the white male citizens of Georgia, who are nothing of the kind, would ever entertain the idea of being called "Colonies." It is a form of insanity, sinking to the grade of imbecility and idocy which baffles explanation. If the fact did not surely live before me, I would not believe that some thousands of the white male citizens of Georgia, who are nothing of the kind, would ever entertain the idea of being called "Colonies." It is a form of insanity, sinking to the grade of imbecility and idocy which baffles explanation. If the fact did not surely live before me, I would not believe that some thousands of the white male citizens of Georgia, who are nothing of the kind, would ever entertain the idea of being called "Colonies." It is a form of insanity, sinking to the grade of imbecility and idocy which baffles explanation. If the fact did not surely live before me, I would not believe that some thousands of the white male citizens of Georgia, who are nothing of the kind, would ever entertain the idea of being called "Colonies." It is a form of insanity, sinking to the grade of imbecility and idocy which baffles explanation. If the fact did not surely live before me, I would not believe that some thousands of the white male citizens of Georgia, who are nothing of the kind, would ever entertain the idea of being called "Colonies." It is a form of insanity, sinking to the grade of imbecility and idocy which baffles explanation. If the fact did not surely live before me, I would not believe that some thousands of the white male citizens of Georgia, who are nothing of the kind, would ever entertain the idea of being called "Colonies." It is a form of insanity, sinking to the grade of imbecility and idocy which baffles explanation. If the fact did not surely live before me, I would not believe that some thousands of the white male citizens of Georgia, who are nothing of the kind, would ever entertain the idea of being called "Colonies." It is a form of insanity, sinking to the grade of imbecility and idocy which baffles explanation. If the fact did not surely live before me, I would not believe that some thousands of the white male citizens of Georgia, who are nothing of the kind, would ever entertain the idea of being called "Colonies." It is a form of insanity, sinking to the grade of imbecility and idocy which baffles explanation. If the fact did not surely live before me, I would not believe that some thousands of the white male citizens of Georgia, who are nothing of the kind, would ever entertain the idea of being called "Colonies." It is a form of insanity, sinking to the grade of imbecility and idocy which baffles explanation. If the fact did not surely live before me, I would not believe that some thousands of the white male citizens of Georgia, who are nothing of the kind, would ever entertain the idea of being called "Colonies." It is a form of insanity, sinking to the grade of imbecility and idocy which baffles explanation. If the fact did not surely live before me, I would not believe that some thousands of the white male citizens of Georgia, who are nothing of the kind, would ever entertain the idea of being called "Colonies." It is a form